

CONTENTS

	page
Preface . . . . .	xiii
Introduction . . . . .	xv
The Fayrfax Manuscript: Collation . . . . .	xx
Editorial Note . . . . .	xxii
Facsimiles . . . . .	xxiv

---

SONGS FROM THE RITSON MANUSCRIPT

1	I have been a foster	anon.	1
2	My woeful heart	anon.	2
3	Be peace! Ye make me spill my ale!	anon.	4
4	Absence of you	anon.	5
5	The high desire	anon.	6
6	O blessed lord, how may this be?	anon.	7
7	Thou man, envired with temptation	anon.	8
8	Now help, fortune	anon.	9
9	Fair and discreet	anon.	10
10	Alone, alone, mourning alone	T.B?	11
11	My heart is in great mourning	anon.	13
12	Pastime with good company	[ Henry VIII ]	14
13	So put in fear I dare not speak	anon.	14
14	Alone, alone; here I am myself	anon.	16
15	In wilderness there found I Bess	anon.	16
16	Come over the burn, Bessy	anon.	17
17	Votre trey dowce regaunt	tenor from Binchois	18
18	Up I arose in verno tempore	anon.	19
19	Hey ho, the mavis on a brere	anon.	20
20	How shall I please?	anon.	23

THE FAYRFAX MANUSCRIPT

21	The farther I go, the more behind	Newark	24
22	Ah, my heart, I know you well	anon.	26
23	What causeth me woeful thoughtes	Newark	28
24	So far I trow from remedy	Newark	30
25	My woeful heart in painful weariness	Sheryngham	32
26	Deemed wrongfully in absent	anon.	34
27	O my desire, what aileth thee?	Newark	35
28	Let search your mindes eye	Hamshere	36

29	Love fain would I	anon.	36
30	Now the law is led	Davy	37
31	That was my woe is now my most	Fayrfax	38
32	Benedicite! What dreamed I?	[ Fayrfax ]	40
33	To complain me, alas	[ Fayrfax ]	42
34	Alas, it is I	Turges	45
35	I am he that hath you daily served	Turges	47
36	. . . I pray daily their pains	anon.	47
37	But why am I so abused?	Newark	48
38	Your counterfeiting	Newark	50
39	Thus musing in my mind	Newark	52
40	Most clear of colour	Fayrfax	54
41	I love, loved, and loved would I be	Fayrfax	56
42	Alas, for lack of her presence	Fayrfax	58
43	That was my joy is now my woe	anon.	60
44	Somewhat musing	Fayrfax	62
45	Madame, defrain!	anon.	64
46	O root of truth, O princess	Tutor	68
47	I love, I love, and whom love ye?	Philipps	70
48	Complain I may	anon.	74
49	Alone, alone: As I me walked	anon.	76
50	Ah, my dear, ah, my dear son	anon.	78
51	Jesu, mercy, how may this be?	Browne	80
52	Afraid, alas, and why so suddenly?	anon.	86
53	Woefully arrayed	Cornish	92
54	Ah, gentle Jesu	Sheryngham	98
55	Woefully arrayed	Browne	104
56	My fearful dream	Banastir	110
57	Ah, blessed Jesu, how fortun'd this?	Davy	113
58	Ah, mine heart, remember thee well	Davy	118
59	Margaret meek	Browne	121
60	Joan is sick and ill at ease	Davy	124
61	Ay, beshereu you!	W. Cornish, junior	128
62	Who shall have my fair lady?	anon.	130
63	Hoyda, hoyda, jolly rutterkin	W. Cornish, junior	132
64	From stormy windes	Turges	135
65	This day day daws	anon.	138
66	Small pathes to the greenwood	anon.	140
67	Enforce yourself as Goddes knight	Turges	144
68	Be it known to all that bin here	anon.	146
69	In a slumber late as I was	anon.	151
<hr/>
	Notes on the Textual Commentary . . . . .		154
	Textual Commentary . . . . .		155
	Alphabetical List of Songs . . . . .		168